Approved Fluorine System Installed; Awaiting Approval

The long-awaited fluorindation program at the Belle Glade Water Department will go into operation within the next week, states Clarence H. Throop, water superintendent for the city. A State Board of Health official is expected to put his final stamp of approval on the project at that time.

This fluoridation system has been the subject of a controversy which first began in 1952 locally. The matter was solved by a 1954 referendum when it was agreed that the fluorine would be added to city water.

When the program begins, two special pressure pumps will add fluorine to the raw water before the finished water is raised into the distribution system.

Belle Glade will become one of five cities in Florida to install this system. Others are Clewiston, Miami, Gainesville, and Naples. Over a dozen more cities have agreed on the plan but have not actually set up the project.

Over a three-year period it was learned that tooth decay reduction of over 25 per cent was accomplished in Clewiston among children tested. State Board of Health figures claim the protection can be raised to nearly 60 per cent for all communities using fluorine.

Tests at LaBelle were remarkable in that only one child among those tested showed tooth decay. LaBelle's fluorine is natural fluorine. It has been proved that artificial fluorine works in a like manner.

Throop said various misconceptions had come up since the question was first suggested. He said that the new additive is a simple safe and reasonably economical approach to the control of dental cavities. Protection is afforded specifically to children ages 6-12. Little or no protection will be obtained by older persons through the new treatment; and at the same time no harm is done.

Throop said it would take a truckload of fluorine dumped into the water at one time to hurt anyone.

Certain interests argue that fluorine-treated water causes heart trouble and any number of diseases including cancer. Tests indicate this is not true. Throop said that there are only three common water-born diseases which are typhoid, dysentary and cholera—the threat of which is always removed by purification.

Throop explained that records must be kept and submitted to the State Board of Health first by week and later by the month to insure the correctness of the treated water.

Aside from fluorine equipment Throop announced that $900 worth of other special equipment had been received at the local plant. Parts of this equipment enables the workmen to test the purity of the water.

It was disclosed that the present water level of Lake Okeechobee was not affecting to any degree the water taken from it. Should the level go a great deal lower, certain algae would make necessary the addition of chemicals which might affect the taste and color of the water; however, it must be understood that this treatment is in no way harmful.

Underwriters Hear Treasurer Larsen

State Treasure J. Edwin Larsen told a Glades group of Underwriters Thursday that "Florida is on the March, and we are just beginning" as he gave records of the gross insurance business in the State.

"The percentage of growth of the insurance business in whatever phase of it you take, greatly exceeds the growths pointed out in the recent issue of the New York Times where Florida's growth since '40 was pictured," the Commissioner of Insurance, told his audience.

Mr. Larsen gave Representative Emmett Roberts credit for a thorough understanding and great assistance in passing several laws benefitting the insurance profession during the last legislature.

"Your own local association and the state organization have been invaluable in maintaining your profession on a high plane," the Commissioner told the underwriters.

During his visit here the Commissioner held open house at the local Chamber of Commerce, visited the rice dryer, the new pump installation at the dike and discussed ramie with Dr. Allison and Mr. Morton at the Experiment Station.

Pahokee Favored Over Local Rams In Trophy Clash Here Wednesday

The local Thanksgiving Day football classic between Pahokee's Blue Devils an the Belle Glade Rams will be played Wednesday evening at 8:15 at Memorial Field.

The winner of the 13th annual clash between the two traditional rivals will take the lead in holding the Bill Young Memorial Trophy. Each team has won five games. There have been two ties since the games began in 1943.

The big question is: Can the high-ranking Pahokee retain the crown for the third straight year, or will the ill-fated Rams surprise everyone?

Pahokee's record this year is 5-2-1. Belle Glade has won one game in eight starts.

City Wide Old Toy Collection Slated By Jaycees Nov. 19

Members of the Belle Glade Junior Chamber of Commerce will pick up and rework old toys to be given away at Christmas to needy families with children. Boxes will be available at the Belle Glade First Station and Richmond Plumbing Co., for reception of the toys to those who want to bring them in, and the Jaycees will conduct a city-wide door to door collection starting at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, Nov. 19, 1955.

Distribution of the toys to needy families will be made in accordance with the advisement of welfare leaders. The Jaycees will accept names from persons desiring to recommend a needy family; these names will be submitted to the welfare groups for consideration.

This is a charitable motive on the part of the Jaycees. The public is urged to contribute toys which are repairable. This would be a good way to get rid of the toys which children have outgrown, but there is still some usefulness left in them. This is better than throwing them away, as well as making some child happy at Christmas.

Benny Richmond is chairman of the collections and repairs.

Engineers Predict Water Shortage Here By Spring

Army Engineers in Jacksonville forecast that Lake Okeechobee levels will fall from the present stage of 13.2 feet to about elevation 12 feet, assuming normal rainfall over the next seven months until the usual rainy season begins.

L. A. Farrer, Chief of the Lake Regulation Section in Jacksonville, states that continued below-normal seasonal rainfall until next May could pull the level down below the record low of 10.6 feet in 1932. The period of record began in 1912.

Farrer points out that the more than 500,000 acres of land which depend on Lake Okeechobee for dry season agricultural water could not be properly served if the big lake should fall below elevation 12. Those lands include areas around the lake, along St. Lucie Canal, and near the coast in the Lake Worth Drainage District.

A continued drought condition would mean increasing demands for agricultural water and progressively critical conditions, Farrer stated. Below normal rainfall for the next seven months would also restrict navigation on the Okeechobee-Cross Florida Waterway, increase the salt infiltration threat to coastal water supplies, and accelerate muck-fire incidence in the Glades.

During the last six weeks, Lake Okeechobee levels dropped half a foot. With normal rainfall and run-off, the lake would have risen over half a foot during this period. Flow for last month from Kissimmee River, principal tributary of the lake, was the lowest of any October of record. There is now less water in southern Florida than at any time since the severe drought period of 1944.

Farrer added that a critical situation of this sort could hot develop after completion of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control Project. "When all works of the project are completed," he said, "large quantities of water can be stored in Lake Okeechobee and the Conservation Areas and used to prevent the damages which result from unusually wet or dry years. As it now stands," he added, "many sections of the project have not been completed, and much of the excess water of wet years must be wasted, with resulting shortages during following dry years."

CITY ACCEPTS LOW BID FOR NEW POLICE CARS

City Manager Clarence Robinson has accepted the low bid of Belle Glade Motors, Inc., here for two new 1956 Ford 4-door sedans for use of the police department.

The city council failed to act on the bids submitted Nov. 9 and turned the matter over to the city manager. The city will trade their two cars, a '54 and '55 model and $1,500 for the specially equipped new Fords.

Committee Hearing On Local Migrants Begins In January

The governor's Citizens Committee on Migratory Labor Problems met in Orlando Nov. 15, for their organizational meeting. The group agreed to begin hearings Jan. 10 in Belle Glade.

Emmett S. Roberts, Palm Beach county state representative, was named permanent chairman of the committee. He said the group decided to hold hearings throughout the state in areas where problems were the greatest, beginning with Belle Glade.

"Our idea," he said, "is to gather facts from all interested agencies and citizens about the problems of the migratory workers to see what increased co-ordination we can secure from state and federal agencies who are already in the field to solve the present problem."

Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth of Belle Glade is serving on the group representing the Florida Ministry to Migrants.

Other areas where hearings will be held in succeeding months are Homestead, Orlando, Immokalee, and Hastings.

The membership of the governor's committee is made up of representatives from interested agencies and state agencies and legislative bodies.

RICE HARVESTING in the fields of Fritz Stein averaging near 15 barrels per acre.

First Successful Rice Crop Harvested Here

The first successful and profitable rice harvest is the Glades area will end soon here on the Stein Farms. The harvesting has been going on nearly six weeks averaging three to five loads pers day.

I. L. Price, president of the Glades Rice Growers Co-op here said Wednesday that the green rice is first dried in bins then shipped to South Carolina Rice Mill, Yemassee, S. C., where it is processed. Price said the rice was holding a good market value of $5.50 per barrel.

In order to eliminate the need of sending the rice north to be milled, a group of interested rice growers are considering the establishment of a rice mill in South Bay. Price said plans should be completed in the next two or three months.

Rice growing is now controlled here as well as other parts of the United States by government quota. When the Co-op was formed nearly four years ago by nearly 25 interested persons no such quotas existed. In spite of such restrictions more than three carloads have been shipped from this area.

Price estimated that by tomorrow night when the harvesting was due to end 7,500 barrels would be in storage at the Co-op and at least a similar amount at South Bay Grains in storage. The disposition of this rice depends on government prices in the future. The alternative is whether to sell the rice now, or market it during the winter.

Everglades Concert Group Start Drives

Over 70 workers of the Everglades Mutual Concert Association with their team captains and officers, met Monday night in the Clewiston Inn to receive final instructions before beginning a ten-day campaign for members. The organization was founded several weeks ago in Clewiston by a group of interested citizens from the five-city area of Belle Glade, Clewiston, LaBelle, Moore Haven and Pahokee. Walter E. Vaughn, President of the new group, conducted the meeting.

A minimum of three outstanding entertainments has been selected for the first season, it was announced. All the programs will be held in the centrally-located Sugarland Auditorium in Clewiston and admission to all numbers on the series will be by membership only. No single admissions will be sold at the box office. The drive for members closes in the five towns Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Nelson & Neal, well-known Australian-American two-piano team will be featured as the first attraction late in January. This husband and wife duo play more concerts per year than any other team in the nation today. Just before their tour into Florida they will have been greatly publicized in a long article, with over three pages of pictures, in the January issue of the Ladies' Home Journal. Their program is designed to please all tastes.

Birkhead & Dunn will be the second program to be offered. An attractive and extremely talented young vocal duo, soprano and baritone, present a varied program of classical, semi-classical and musical comedy selections. Both these artists have had enviable careers in television and night clubs, as well as on the concert and opera stage.

In March, the hilarious three-act musical comedy, "The Barber of Seville," will be sung and acted in English by the popular National Grass Roots Opera Company. This production will be completely staged with settings, costumes and lights presenting an outstanding company of ten talented young singers.

It is the hope of the planning committee that enough money will be available to bring a fourth number, perhaps a play or a solo dramatist.

Only 600 memberships are available this year in the combined five towns, it was announced. Persons who have not been contacted by Friday, Nov. 18, are urged to call one of the workers in their area in order to reserve memberships. Adults will be admitted for five dollars for the series and student

Audience Awards Ballots To Be Cast In Theatre Lobbies

It has been announced by the management of the Gold-Dobrow Theatres that they have set in motion the machinery for their participation in the National Audience Awards Roll for the selection of the best picture of the year, the best performance by an actor and the best performance by an actress, the most promising new personality (male) and the most promising new personality (female).

The votes will be placed in a special box which will be set up in the lobby of the Hugo Theatre and at the concession stand of the Lake Drive-In.

At the close of the contest the votes will be tabulated and sent to Price, Waterhouse and Co., public accountants. The awards will be announced early in December at Hollywood, Calif., in a special ceremony which will be broadcast.

Through the years the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences have conducted a poll of this type and awarded "Oscars" for best pictures, best performances, best direction, etc. But this is the first time the man who supports the army of people engaged in this form of entertainment has had an opportunity to vote his approval of certain pictures and motion picture artists.

The National Audience Awards Poll is creating tremendous interest over the nation and we are sure it will be enthusiastically received here.

The counting of the ballots will be under the supervision of civic club.

On The . . . STREET CORNER

A B.G. Band member says it's true: At the Ft. Pierce football game (ugh) someone yelled for the B.G. band to keep quiet so people could tell what was happening. Bandmaster, John Munroe said the band might have played in the wrong places, but they played! Only one man out of eleven on one play missed a signal. Who's to say whether the band caused that or not?

Fluorine treated water in the news this week brought this to mind: The day after the 1954 referendum set the policy to accept fluorine, a lady called the water works to report that her goldfish had died because of the fluorine in the water. Please note: It wasn't in yet, m'am. Still isn't.

Experiment station personnel say the muck will oxidate away by the year 2000 unless something is done to stop it. Best suggestion to stop it: (consensus) Everyone go out in the yard and lie down on some. Save what we can.

The last straw: Smilin' Jack, comic strip character, made the county commission this week. Commissioner Lake Lytal brought up the matter by saying he understood the flyer made application for a job at the airport in Lantana, but he was turned down. Lytal made a motion that if Lantana Airport officials didn't want to hire Smilin' Jack, the officials at the air strip should take their business elsewhere. Shouldn't we ask L'il Abner to migrate to Belle Glade to pick beans? I'll entertain a motion at this time, gentlemen . . .

Mental Health Group Seeks Local Support

Mental illness is taking a greater toll than ever before in our history. There are now more than 700,000 men, women and children in mental hospitals—as many as there are in all other hospitals put together. That means that there are more hospital patients with mental illness than with cancer, heart disease, polio, tuberculosis and all other physical diseases combined.

In 1934 the chances of being hospitalized for a mental disease were one in twenty. Today they are nearly one in ten.

Education and research is cutting down the tremendous toll of mental illness. Mental health associations help in establishing mental health clinics and training psychiatric personnel. Members are urgently needed to help carry on htis work.

Join your Palm Beach County Mental Health Assn., and help fight mental illness and build mental health.

Please contact Mrs. Frank Dooley of Belle Glade or Mrs. Clyde A. Canipe of Pahokee if you wish to help.

F.H.A. News

The meeting of District Five, of the Future Homemakers of America, was held at Dan McCarty High School, in Ft. Pierce, Saturday morning, Nov. 12. Several girls from the Belle Glade Chapter attended, accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Roy Litchfield, and Mrs. Joe Cherry.

The meeting was opened with the FHA Ritual, led by Carolyn Berry, of Ft. Lauderdale. She also introduced all the guests, including the Mayor of Ft. Pierce and the Principal of Dan McCarty high school, who gave the welcome.

The Belle Glade Chapter gave the devotional services, which were led by Carolyn Miller. Carolyn was running for District President-elect and gave a skit on Parliamentary Procedure, assisted by Cline Faulk, Margaret Williams, Linda Gail Mobley, and Carole Goforth.

Esther Bailey, also of Belle Glade, ran for District reporter, and gave a skit on the FHA Activities in her home chapter. Esther was assisted by Donna Mae Armstrong. Sue Diamond, of Stuart, also running for reporter, gave a skit in the form of a fashion show. A poem was read by another girl who also ran for reporter, Sandy Knight of Vero Beach. Norma Jean Steeleman's skit was conducted like a radio broadcast. Norma Jean, of Pompano Beach, also ran for reporter. Judy Wolfe, of Ft. Lauderdale who was running for treasurer, gave a skit called "Citty Caterettes."

The National Home Economics Advisor gave a report on National Future Homemakers, and the meeting was then adjourned for lunch.

After lunch there was a talent show in which Carolyn Miller sang a solo, "Two Hearts." There was also a quartet from the local chapter made up of Molly Forsee, Sandra Gove, Esther Bailey, and Donna Mae Armstrong, which sang "The Halls of Ivy."

Barbara Holliday, of Ft. Lauderdale, who is the State FHA President, gave a report on National FHA. Frances Layfield, Belle Glade, gave a report on the Leadership Training Conference.

"FHA Looks Smart," was the title of the talk given by Lou Orsell, South Broward.

The meeting was closed by the report of voting, and the Belle Glade Chapter is happy to announce that Carolyn Miller was chosen District President-Elect, and will run for State President-Elect.

The executive officers of the local chapter met on Monday, Nov. 14, to make plans for their next regular meeting, which will be Nov. 28. They also made plans for a spaghetti supper to be held on December 3. The prices are children under 13, fifty cents and adults $1.00. The FHA girls are also packing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family.

Approximately 22 girls were initiated into the FHA Thursday, Nov. 10. You could see girls running all over, wearing dresses, wrong-side-out and patched dungarees under them, with their hair tied in strings. They all carried a dishpan with a doll in it and candy to give to the old members when they asked for it. Oh yes, everyone wore an onion around their neck and were sprinkled with cheap perfume. Everytime an old member went down the hall and yelled "Hurricane," all new members would lie down on the floor and wave a tree branch over themselves. This was their initiation!

National Guard News

Company E supplied a firing squad and 27 men for the Veteran's Day Parade in Clewiston on Nov. 11. This parade was the largest Veteran's Day parade ever held in the Glades area.

The local unit of the national guard has begun an extensive membership drive in an effort to recruit enoungh men to bring the unit up to at least 100 men.

Second lieutenant John H. Cromartie, commanding officer of Company E, said that a number of vacancies exist. Our home town soldiers are busy learning skills which may someday be used to defend our country or quell any internal problems.

The Guard needs the support of every citizen. World War II and Korean veterans are urged to lend their service skills to the Guard.

Nov. 7, several prospective members were guests of hte Guard unit. Already four new guardsmen have been sworn into the ranks. They are Larry E. Armstrong, Floyd E. Collingsworth, Richard L. Harvey and Richard G. Townsend.

A group of nine prospective members were shown a 30-minute film on summer training. A demonstration of weapons and ammunition was held and the prospective men were shown the general supply room which houses the arms and equipment provided by the government. The local Guard unit now has the most modern, up-to-date equipment used by the army.

Lieutenant Cromartie said that the size of the armory to be built depends on the number of guardsmen in the unit. He went on to say that local construction firms would be allowed to bid on the new building.

George Wedgworth were appointed to review the legal matters pertaining to the new Chamber of Commerce office to be sure that all committments have been carried out.

It was agreed to seek the city's approval to put signs on the traffic lights pointing to the Chamber's office here. It was understood that the traffic lights were to be raised anyway —therefore no traffic hazard would be encountered.

South Bay Authorizes New Planning Board; Discusses Other Topics

Sidewalks, sirens, sign boards and zoning ordinances took up the majority of the agenda for the first November meeting of the South Bay Commission last Monday.

A petition signed by 36 citizens requested a sidewalk of some type for Palm Beach Road from SR 27 to the west city limits. Discussion disclosed that school children walking on the road had no protection from hazardous traffic. The council agreed to investigate the matter and see that the walk was made.

City Attorney Claude Jones was authorized to draw up an ordinance creating a planning board for the city similar to Belle Glade. A zoning board of appeals will also be established. Jones was also authorized to revise and codify all South Bay's ordinances.

O'Neal Walker was appointed to the planning board to fill the vacancy of Henry Elfers who resigned. Elfers felt he should not serve on the planning board and the city council at the same time.

C. A. Bailey appeared seeking permission to erect a 30 by 10 real estate sign on Walker's subdivision west of the shell store on U.S. 27. The group authorized attorney Jones to draw an ordinance prohibiting signs in certain sections of the city thus denying Bailey's request.

Mead Willets, South Bay's fire chief, said the siren used in the negro section to alert the fire department was not powerful enough to be heard at the station. The council authorized him to ask about and order a suitable siren.

The council carried a motion authorizing William Jeffries, Jr., to audit the city's books for the 1955-1956 fiscal year at his per diem rate.

whereas enrollment in regular universities is about $1,000. This is due to many reasons, among which is the fact that junior colleges do not offer dormitory facilities and provide for only two years schooling.

Junior colleges he stated are helpful in overcoming the crowded conditions in universities and that a large percentage who enroll drop out before completing the four years, and therefore the junior college can be helpful by providing the first two years of college training.

Dr. J. Leighton Scott, pastor of the Everglades Presbyterian Church gave the devotional. Mrs. E. D. Humphries president, presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. Hubert Tillery, membership chairman reproted the PTA membership is about 500 and Mrs. Guy Wood reported on the Carnival of which she was chairman.

Read Colossians 3:8-14.

Above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness. (Colossians 3:14.)

While visiting the lepers near Panama City, Panama, we were impressed by the cheerful attitude of the patients. The doctor's wife was our guide. Going in and out of the cottages, and from bed to bed in the infirmary, we noticed that her deep concern for each of her "family" was equalled by their love for her. Why? She saw them as persons, and she saw their needs.

Each of us is a person having needs. In body, mind, or character each of us is less than perfect. Yet we know cur Lord looks beyond the weaknesses in us and sees us as persons, even as He saw as persons the lepers of Galilee. He sees the God-given personality that is deep within, able to bear fruit in the light of His love.

Unless we have Christ's love in us so that we look upon others as persons, we do less than live our lives to the fullest.

PRAYER

Our dear heavenly Father, we thank Thee for sending Thy Son to show us how to live. So fill us with divine love that we shall see only that which is good in others, and see their needs in the spirit of Christ.—Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

With love like that of Christ we can help call forth the Christ-self in others.

Barbara V. Myers (Calif.)
